Safety Check
Scenario for Instructor and 911 call:

A. This scenario will start with a two-person zone car responding to a radio broadcast for a male disturbing outside a corner store. A business owner is calling to report a male loitering on the sidewalk in front of his business and would like him removed. Caller states this is affecting his business but does not state how. The officers will be told they have arrived on scene and directed to role player #1 who is acting as the store owner. If officers ask any questions pertaining to the call, they will be advised that no further information is available. (Note: description will match the role player’s outer clothing, height and weight for that day.)

Instructions for Role Player #1

A. Officers will then confer with the store owner, role player #1, who will state, “that guy has been standing on the sidewalk outside my store for a half hour without coming in or buying anything.”

B. Store owner, role player #1, states that he has asked them to leave the area several times. “I told him if he’s not going to buy anything, he has to leave. I want him removed from the area.”

C. The store owner will point out that he has a clearly posted sign saying, “No Loitering” in his parking lot.

Instructions for Role Player #2

A. Role player #2 will be standing on the “public sidewalk” waiting for his ride.

B. Role player #2 will not be blocking the entrance to the business nor will he be blocking the sidewalk.

C. Role player #2 will not argue with role player #1 or the officers

D. Role player #2 will not engage the officers or role player #1 until addressed by the officers. If the officer do not engage role player #2, he will advise officers of his actions. (See RP #2 instructions)
E. Role player #2 Script (Male standing on sidewalk)

a. If the officers do not initiate an encounter, role player #2 will approach them and state, “He has been yelling at me to either buy something or leave for the last 20 minutes”. This will ensure interaction with role player #2.

b. If the officers should approach role player #2 who will be standing there calmly but looking around. The role player will be cooperative with all questioning.

c. Interaction with the police: be calm and cooperative, and follow any orders given, unless you are asked to leave or to give officers your ID. If you are ordered to leave, refuse and ask why. If officers ask you to produce identification, refuse to do so.

d. Role player #2 will comply with officer’s commands and allow them to ask questions, before asking if he or she is detained. To end scenario, role player #2 will say, “there’s my ride”, and then they will walk away.

e. If officers then stop him, a seizure has been made and needs to be justified, they should let role player #2 walk away.

   i. The proper response should be allowing role player #2 to walk away

F. Officer’s desired response when contacting role player #2

a. Initiate a non-custodial interview with the understanding no crime has occurred.

b. This contact with role player #2 should remain conversational and any questions should be only to gather facts from the perspective of role player #1.

c. Professionally explain to role player #2 why you have made contact with them

   ii. Advise the role player they are not being detained

   iii. Answer any questions from the role player
iv. Explain to role player what the store owner’s complaint is and why police are involved

d. Officers should/ can provide alternatives (i.e. asking if role player needs a ride or ask him whether he/she is willing to voluntarily move further away from the store to limit the interaction with the store owner)

e. Officers should not order role player #2 to do anything

IV. Debriefing Protocol:

A. Officers should be reminded of what turns a non-custodial interview into a detention or arrest.

   A. Telling him the role player they are not free to leave

   B. Ordering the role player to do anything

   C. Show of force

   D. An officer may ask for ID, although this could lead to a detention

      i. Why did you feel it was necessary to ask for the role player’s id?

      ii. Do you feel that was appropriate or may have escalated that situation?

   E. Using oscillating lights to gain attention of role player

   F. Physical contact with the individual

   G. Number of officers present

   H. Blocking individual’s freedom to move

   I. language or tone that indicates compliance is required

B. Officers will address complainant and role player #2 with professionalism as they investigate the complaint.

C. It is imperative that officers are aware this is a fact gathering conversation (non-custodial interview) not a terry stop or detention
D. The role player is free to leave at any time

E. Officers should not pat down or search the subjects

F. If the officers detained role player #2, they will be remediated with the policy

G. After the conversation with role player #2, officers should explain to the store owner no crime is occurring and RP #2 is legally allowed to be there.

Allow the scenario to evolve, note teachable moments to explore during the debrief

Once the proper de-escalation is use for the complaint, this should be a low stress interaction

Investigatory Stops
GPO I, B1
E. Cover any missteps, problems, or issues occurring during scenario.

F. Answer all questions in connection with the scenarios.

G. Officers must distinguish between voluntary contacts and terry stops. The inquiry into whether an individual would feel free to leave and or decline any of the officer’s requests at any point is an objective one. Factors could include but are not limited to;

   i. Number of officers present

   ii. Blocking the individual’s vehicle or freedom to move

   iii. Physical contact with the individual

   iv. Whether the officers or tone of voice indicates that compliance with the officers request is required

   v. Display of a weapon

   vi. Display of official indicators, such as signals of flashing, oscillating, rotating lights

This scenario is a consensual encounter. Store owner will complain in general about people in front of his store. If asked for ID, role player will provide it. Instructor should have discussion about factors that turn a consensual encounter into a detention:

1. Walking away/holding ID
2. Giving an order to subject
3. Placing subject into the patrol car
4. Making subject feel they are not free to leave

Instructor will complete the performance evaluation form for each student.
VI. Performance evaluations:

A. Did officers properly identify themselves as Cleveland Police? If “No”, why not?

B. Did officers detain any of the role players? If “Yes,” why?

C. Did officers state the encounter is being recorded? If “No”, why not?

D. Did officers listen and answer questions from the either of the subject(s)? If “No”, why not?

E. Did officers act courteous and professionally to the subjects?

F. Do officers make subjects aware they can leave at any time?

G. Can the officers articulate the purpose for identifying this as a consensual encounter?

H. Did officers follow department policies/directives?

VII. Handout scenario:

A. The officers not currently involved in the scenario will be given a written search and seizure scenario (Handout#1).

B. They will read the scenario and answer the questions in the handout while they are waiting for their turn to perform in the live action scenario.

C. A policy book containing the five new search and seizure policies will be made available to assist officers with completing the written scenario.

VIII. Handout discussion:

A. A review and discussion of the type of scenario (Handout #1) will take place after all officers have completed the live action scenario

B. The instructor will answer any questions and relate it to the GPOs in connection with the scenario

C. The instructor will correct any issues officers may have had during the handout scenario

During handout discussion, the strip search GPO should be discussed and questions should be answered using the provided GPO training book.

Discuss the exigent circumstances extends to the misdemeanor arrest when the item is believed to be a handgun or dangerous ordinance. Section III subsections A. and B.1.

Advise officers of the privacy issues that go along with preforming a strip search and steps required to address them.

Discuss the importance of notifying a supervisor and the reporting procedure
