Statement Regarding Republican National Convention

CLEVELAND – The City of Cleveland is excited to host the 2016 Republican National Convention. Working with our federal, state and local security as well as our business partners we look forward to a successful convention. We will not discuss operational security matters. As a Community, however, we look forward to showcasing our great City and to providing a safe environment for all those who live, work, and are visiting our City.

All requests regarding security issues will be referred to the Secret Service.
